

UNIT

4

CHAPTER 11 SECTION 4

The End of the Republic

READING AND NOTE-TAKING

IDENTIFY CAUSES AND EFFECTS

Use the chart below to record causes and effects that relate to the end of the Roman Republic as you read Section 4.

Causes	Effects
The Roman Republic expanded after the Punic Wars.
	Gaius Gracchus was assassinated.
Sulla marched his army into Rome.
	The Roman Republic became a monarchy and then an empire.

READING AND NOTE-TAKING

BUILD A TIME LINE

After reading Section 4, use the time line below to keep track of key events in the decline of the Roman Republic, beginning at 70 B.C.

70 B.C. Generals Crassus and Pompey are unpopular consuls, so the Senate turns to the popular politician, Julius Caesar.